My research interests revolve around technology-driven approaches to second language pronunciation, second language writing, and AI in education. My work focuses on pronunciation, phonetics, and phonology, particularly the automation of intelligibility ratings, as well as Automated Writing Evaluation (AWE) and the integration of AI in EFL/ESL contexts.

Education	Iowa State University (IA) Ph.D., Applied Linguistics and Technology (ALT) (2020-present) Saint Cloud State University (MN) M.A., Teaching English as a Second Language (TESL) (2018-2020) University of Cambridge, ESOL Examinations (DC) Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (CELTA) (2013) George Mason University (VA) Bachelor of Science, Management (2006) Lycée Stéphane Hessel (France) Baccalauréat Electrical and Electronics Engineering (Bac STI) (2000)
